

Faint, mirrored text impressions, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the pages. The text is arranged in two horizontal lines across both pages, but is too light to be legible.